San Jose, CA (Hybrid)

Full-Time

Requisition ID: REQ-301 · Level: L2 · Posted: November 2026

About Lumina

Lumina Streaming Co. is a global streaming platform delivering premium original content, live sports, and an extensive library of films and series to over 40 million subscribers in 60+ countries. Headquartered in San Jose, CA, with offices in London, Singapore, and beyond, we combine world-class storytelling with cutting-edge technology to redefine how audiences experience entertainment.

The Role

Lumina's FP&A; team is a strategic partner to the business, providing financial insights and decision support that drive growth. As an FP&A; Analyst, you'll support the annual budgeting process, build financial models, and produce analysis that influences how Lumina invests in content, technology, and talent.

What You'll Do

- Support monthly and quarterly financial close processes — variance analysis, commentary, and reporting
- Build and maintain financial models for budgeting, forecasting, and scenario analysis
- Produce the monthly management reporting package for the CFO and executive team
- Partner with department heads to understand cost drivers and forecast people and operating costs
- Analyze content investment performance and return on streaming content spend
- Contribute to special projects: strategic planning, M&A; support, investor materials

What You'll Bring

- 2+ years of FP&A;, investment banking, consulting, or related analytical experience
- Advanced Excel and financial modeling skills — you build clean, auditable models
- Experience with FP&A; planning tools (Workday Adaptive Planning, Anaplan, or similar)
- Strong written and verbal communication — able to turn data into a clear narrative
- High attention to detail with the ability to manage multiple priorities under deadline
- Bachelor's degree in Finance, Accounting, Economics, or related field

Nice to Have

- Experience at a high-growth technology or media company
- Familiarity with streaming or subscription business metrics (LTV, CAC, churn, ARPU)
- SQL proficiency for self-service data extraction
